Business hit by vehicle arsonists

A HARD-PRESSED Haverhill decorator has fallen victim to an arson attack spree in the town.

Jacob Ridlington, 35, had parked his work van outside his home in Argyle Court, The Clements, when the fire starters torched a car and his van.

The father-of-three heard a loud bang and looked out to watch in horror as his van was caught up in an inferno.

He could see flames leap up as high as his house and the blaze spread to a nearby fence.

The JR Decorators van was a write-off and the following day Mr Ridlington was supposed to start work for six weeks at a Cambridge cycling shop, Station Cycles.

But he had to cancel the much-needed contract as he did not have any transport.

Residents have also been left terrified after three vehicles were targeted.

Mr Ridlington had not worked in a month and was furious at arsonists who have severely damaged his means to support his family.

He said: "I was woken up and could see the flames going right up to the roof. It was awful. I was supposed to start a six-week contract the next day but I lost it because of the wanton act of destruction.

"I haven't had any work for a month and this contract was extremely important to my business and my family. It has really set me back. I just hope the police catch whoever did this.

"I haven't been able to pay any bills, which has been really embarrassing and stressful for my family. It has been horrendous."

Cllr Anne Gower, a Suffolk county councillor, was shocked and appalled by the attacks.

She said: "I know people on The Clements who are very scared after these attacks. It is just tragic what has happened to the decorator.

"It is difficult enough for families at the moment without these criminals running around.

Hundreds join town's inaugural Sport Relief event

ORGANISERS are "thrilled" with the massive turnout for Haverhill's first Sport Relief Mile.

The event, which attracted 215 participants, was organised by Haverhill Running Club in partnership with Abbeycroft Leisure.

Runners set off from Haverhill Leisure Centre, past the cinema complex and cricket club before the return journey along the pretty railway walk on Sunday.

Participants ran, jogged and walked 1, 3 or 6 miles in aid of Sport Relief. The money is used the charity by Comic Relief to help transform the lives of poor and vulnerable people, both at home and across the world's poorest countries.

Trevor Bunch, chairman of the running club, said: "We were thrilled by the numbers of people who ran Haverhill's first ever Sport Relief Mile.

"We could not have wished for better weather and I would like to thank members of Haverhill Running Club and Haverhill Ladies Hockey Club for marshalling the events, St Edmundsbury Borough Council for allowing us to use the Railway Walk, and Haverhill Town Council for organising the PA system which enabled us to have a great aerobic warm-up session and music for the runners throughout the event."

Haverhill Leisure Centre also hosted an open day on Sunday in aid of Sport Relief where customers paid £1 for a variety of activities, including swimming, squash, table tennis, rush hockey, Zumba, and children's activities.

Amelia Epton, Abbeycroft's children and young people programme manager, said: "It was fantastic to see people in the town coming together for such a great cause."

Forty fined in seatbelt crackdown

DOZENS of fines were issued to motorists for flouting seatbelt laws in Suffolk.

A total of 40 motorists were caught in a week-long crackdown by police.

The Suffolk force's roads policing unit conducted checks on motorists and their passengers throughout the county in support of the Europe-wide TISPOL seatbelt enforcement campaign running from Monday, March 12 to Sunday, March 18.

Of all the fines issued 38 were given for not wearing a seatbelt and two in relation to a child.

In a similar campaign in September, Suffolk Police issued 66 fines, equating to 9.4 per day.

Sgt Paul Ward said: "While the results of the enforcement

BY RAYMOND BROWN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

campaign are lower than in previous campaigns we would still remind people of the importance of wearing a seatbelt.

"Last year we saw four fatalities in Suffolk where the driver or passenger was not wearing a seatbelt, so having 40 people stopped is still far too many.

"Failing to wear a seatbelt is a major factor in reducing the likelihood of being killed or seriously injured and should not be underestimated.

"It is an effortless task that should be part of a routine before starting up a vehicle and quite simply can mean the difference between life and death."

Hunt for vehicle arsonists launched

■ From Page 1

"It is damaging for the community as a whole and puts lives at risk. This wanton destruction must be stopped."

Police have launched a hunt for the arsonists who struck on Sunday, March 18.

Firefighters from Haverhill dealt with the car and a van fire after multiple calls from residents reported the blazes at about 4.10am.

And at about 4.25am, firefighters were called to Gloucester Road where a red Citroen AX was destroyed after it went up in flames.

Pc Andrew Green said: "This is a destructive crime that shows no respect for personal property or safety."

"We have conducted a thorough inquiry into these arson incidents, with local officers making house-to-house visits to gather intelligence and scenes of crime experts considering the scene for forensics."

"There are no suspects at this time, but we would still be keen to hear from anyone who heard or saw anything suspicious during the evening."

Anyone with any information should ring Suffolk Police on the non-emergency number 101 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Pupils bid farewell to old school building

PAST and present staff joined pupils and parents saying farewell to their old school building before they move into a brand new one next term.

A 'leaving do' was held at Westfield Primary School in Haverhill for any ex-members of staff who had taught at the school since it opened.

Plans of the new building were on show, as will memorabilia and photographs from the past for previous staff to view.

The late afternoon tea party was an opportunity for everyone to get together before the move to the new building next to Samuel Ward Academy takes place and the school's new chapter begins.

Head teacher Rosie Campbell and her team have invested a lot of time to provide a building which will cater for the needs of all the children, and pupils, governors and staff had been visiting regularly and monitored progress from the start. Bulbs have been planted and everyone is looking forward to a super springtime start.

Happy memories: The leaving gathering at Westfield Primary, top, with above, a chance to look at old photographs.

Golf club used to threaten car owner

A HAVE-A-GO hero was threatened by another man wielding a golf club in a street in Haverhill.

Two men were seen by a resident of Atterton Road acting suspiciously and hanging around a parked car at about 6.50pm on Saturday, March 17, police said.

The resident told the owner of the vehicle what was happening and they approached the two men.

One of the men threatened the car owner, hurling verbal abuse at him, while holding a golf club.

The two men sped off at speed in what is believed to be a dark blue hatch-back car, a police spokesman said.

The man holding the golf club was about 5ft 8in to 5ft 9in tall, aged in his mid 20s, of stocky build with short dark hair and had a "rounded face". He wore a light jacket and trousers.

The second man was about 5ft 8in tall, slender skinny and wearing a light jacket and dark trousers.

Call Sgt Bartley on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Brave Stacey, 20, is 'honoured' to carry 2012 torch

BIG-HEARTED Stacey Johnson has survived a brain tumour – and her next challenge is to carry the Olympic Torch through Haverhill.

The 20-year-old set up and runs her own charity to benefit seriously ill children and has been selected to join the elite of those carrying the flame.

Stacey, who was nominated by her social landlord South Anglia, part of Circle Housing Group, is unstoppable in her work for her charity Kisses4Kids despite undergoing radiotherapy and chemotherapy for an inoperable condition.

She will carry the torch for a section of the national relay route which goes through the town on July 7 in the run up to the opening of the London 2012 Olympic Games.

After hearing of her selection,

'Inspirational': Stacey Johnson

Stacey said: "When I was called by South Anglia and told I couldn't believe it at first. It was a massive surprise."

"I'm really excited. All my family and friends will be there to support me. It is such a huge honour."

Stacey, who is from Much

Hadham, Hertfordshire, set up Kisses4Kids after being diagnosed with an inoperable brain tumour four years ago. The charity raises money for treats, such as family days out, and Christmas and Easter presents, for other seriously ill children.

Funds raised by Kisses4Kids have also contributed to a games and DVD room and garden area at Dolphin Ward, in Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital, which provides acute care services to children.

Kisses4Kids fundraises at fetes, fun days and carnivals.

Ami Spring, equality and diversity officer at South Anglia Housing Association, who nominated Stacey, said: "There can be few more deserving people than Stacey."

"Stacey's tireless work to improve the lives of other young people suffering from serious illness is truly an inspiration."

Jail worker pleads guilty

A PRISONER and a worker at a jail near Haverhill have pleaded guilty to involvement in the supply of illegal drugs.

Alex Sheppard, 21, who worked at Highpoint prison, and Adam Bloy, 25, a serving prisoner, appeared at Ipswich Crown Court.

Each pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to supply heroin and cannabis on May 27 last year at the prison at Stradishall.

A third person facing the same charges, Fiona Wright, 21, of Rockingham Road, Bury St Edmunds, pleaded not guilty.

Judge David Goodin told Wright, a financial advisor, she would continue to be granted bail until her trial, which is due to begin on May 28.

Sheppard, of John Davis Way, Watlington, near Kings Lynn and Bloy, of Woodward Avenue, Kings Lynn have been remanded in custody.

Judge Goodin said at the hearing on Friday last week that Sheppard and Bloy would be sentenced at the conclusion of Wright's trial.

Students dance off with 114 awards

YOUNG dancers won more than 100 prizes when they took part in a south east England championship event. The pupils from The Academy, which has classes in Haverhill and Royston, travelled to Burnham for the event and were thrilled to walk away with 114 awards between them. Sisters Nicola, 16, and Amy, 14, Sellers, from Haverhill, won a total of 14 trophies between them

Kelly Westgate, who runs the school, said: "I am so proud of how all the children did. They worked so hard for this event and it certainly paid off. I can't tell you what a lovely feeling I have inside when you see these kids smiling and doing what they do best, and then to win so many awards is just priceless."

Addict jailed for stealing from widower

A WOMAN who stole £9,000 jewellery from a grieving Haverhill widower to fund a drug habit has been jailed.

Reshma Sapra took the jewels which had belonged to the man's dead wife after being invited into his home.

The 29-year-old, then of Minerva Way, King's Hedges, Cambridge, was sentenced to 12 months imprisonment at Ipswich Crown Court on Monday.

She had pleaded guilty to theft and fraud by false representation.

The court heard how Sapra, 29, met the victim in a pub and went on to befriend him and cooked meals at his home in Feltwell Place, Haverhill.

After Sapra refused to take their relationship any further she stole the jewellery, much of it of great sentimental value, said

BY RAYMOND BROWN

Email: editorial@haverhill-weeklynews.co.uk

prosecutor Robert Sadd.

Sapra sold off the jewellery for cash, some at a branch of Cash Converters, from where a number of items were recovered by police, but many pieces remained unaccounted for, said Mr Sadd.

The offences took place between December 2010 and March 2011.

Melanie Benn, defending, said at the time Sapra, of Minerva Way, Cambridge, had been short of money to fund her "very bad" drug habit.

As well as selling the items stolen from the house in Haverhill, she pawned jewellery that had belonged to her own grandmother in order to obtain money to buy drugs.

Miss Benn said Sapra was anxious to receive an immediate prison sentence to help her overcome her drug problem – which she had already taken steps to address.

Since being arrested in January and held in custody Sapra has been studying for qualifications and on her release from prison planned to set up a cleaning business with her partner.

Sentencing her, Judge David Goodin told Sapra: "This was a cruel offence committed against a vulnerable and plainly still grieving widower."

The offences had represented a serious breach of trust and denied the victim's children jewellery which had been owned by their late mother, said Judge Goodin.

Shopper had purse stolen

POLICE are reminding people to keep their wallets and purses safe after a black purse was stolen from a handbag as the victim was shopping.

The victim had visited Martins newsagent on the High Street, the YMCA charity shop and Superdrug before realising the purse was gone.

The theft happened last Thursday and was most likely taken some time between 11am and 11.45am.

Police have appealed for information about the theft. Call Pc Laura Harris, quoting crime number HH/12/662 on 101, or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

New service to care for elderly residents

A NEW company has been launched to provide care for a town's elderly residents.

Embrace Homecare held a launch at Haverhill Arts Centre of its service for elderly Haverhill residents, providing bespoke care packages, tailored to the individual needs of the clients, for those who require care in their own homes.

Care needs will be assessed, by a qualified

Care Manager, agreed with the clients and may offer any extent of care – from one hour a week up to 24 hours daily and overnight care. Embrace Homecare is committed to supporting elderly residents who wish to live in their own homes and may need support in everyday tasks.

Established by Karen Murphy and Tina Hearne, both Haverhill residents with long experience in care in the home, the firm will provide quality care meeting all the requirements of the Care Quality Commission's guidance.

Karen Murphy said: "We are planning to develop a small client base initially and will take on new staff as the service expands. We are local and committed to ensuring our services reflect the wishes of our clients – allowing them to preserve their independence in their own home."

Tina Hearne said: "Providing a stable team of two carers assigned to each client along with a fixed hourly cost enables clients to confidently plan their continuing independence in their own home.

"Care packages are constantly reviewed, with the client, and developing care needs can be accommodated with ease."

Delight as hostage returns to England

BY ALICE HUTTON

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

COLLEAGUES of a British woman who was freed after being held prisoner by Somali pirates in Kenya for seven months have spoken of their delight at her release.

Judith Tebbutt, a social worker at Kneesworth House Hospital, a psychiatric care home near Bassingbourn, for seven years, was flown into Nairobi on Wednesday.

She was reunited with her only son Ollie at the British High Commission after he organised a ransom allegedly of up to £800,000 ($1.3m) to be paid to her captors.

The 56-year-old mother was kidnapped in a violent attack which left her husband David, 58, dead on September 11 last year when their beach hut was raided at a five star resort north of the coastal city of Lamu.

The Bishop's Stortford resident flew home to the UK late last week.

A spokeswoman for Kneesworth House Hospital said they were

Freed: Judith Tebbutt

CP

"absolutely delighted" to hear of her safe release and were looking forward to seeing her at work "when she is ready."

Mrs Tebbutt revealed she did not know her husband, who grew up in Haverhill, had been killed for two weeks after she was kidnapped until she spoke to her son on the phone.

She said in a video broadcast by the BBC: "[David] was a good man. That was very unfortunate, really horrible. But you just need to pick up the pieces and move on.

"I didn't know he'd died until about, I think it was two weeks from my capture. I just assumed he was alive, but then my son told me he'd died. That was difficult.

"And it must have been hard for my son as well, very hard, and he's been fantastic, he's been absolutely fantastic, I don't know how he secured my release, but he did, and I'm really happy, I can't wait to see him, really."

She said she had been treated well by her captors and given immediate medical attention when she fell ill three times.

A spokeswoman for Kneesworth continued: "All the staff and patients that Jude works with at Partnerships in Care Kneesworth House Hospital are absolutely delighted to hear the news of her safe release.

"After her dreadful ordeal we know she will want time with her family and friends but we are all thinking of her and sending her our warmest regards."

A spokesman for The Foreign Office said Judith and her son had asked for privacy.

Party people are just thoughtless

Sir, Why don't people take their litter home or pick it up and put it in a bin and leave the playing fields as they found them.

We don't want to stop anyone having fun but when people used the Puddlebrook playing fields for a party last Saturday night they left glass bottles and lots of rubbish behind to get smashed.

On Tuesday morning we took our dog up there for his run as we have done for the last two years, when he had his playtime cut short.

When he ran out to retrieve his ball he cut his leg on some broken glass and we had to get him to the vet to have it dressed.

This has left us with an unexpected vet bill and a poorly dog all due to some thoughtless people – it could have been a small child getting hurt.

Watchdogs warning on prize scam

CON artists have sent bogus Olympic lottery letters to unsuspecting Suffolk residents.

Suffolk Trading Standards is warning families in Haverhill to look out for the scam letters which illegally use the Olympic and London 2012 logos and tell recipients they have won a prize of £525,000.

The letters claim that all recipients have to do is return a payment processing form, by fax, with their personal details to receive the full sum of money. These personal details are actually being forwarded to criminal gangs operating abroad.

Any information residents send to claim their non-existent prize is used to carry out identification theft.

The letters use false names and addresses, usually of large office blocks, and '0207' telephone numbers purchased to give the impression they are based in London. However, in reality, the person at the end of the phone could be anywhere in the world.

Cllr Colin Spence, Suffolk County Council's public protection boss, said: "Sadly, in the next few months, it is very likely that Olympic-related scams will be on the increase. With this in mind, it is vital that people remain extra vigilant around this time."

"Residents should not be afraid to discard any suspicious letters. It is important to trust your instincts – if it sounds too good to be true, then it probably is."

Haverhill

Haverhill and District Local History Group: Mike Wabe certainly lived up to expectations when he enthralled the group recently with his living history talk on life in the Middle Ages.

He was dressed in authentic costume – all his own work – and with an abundance of medieval artefacts, ranging from weapons and armour to coins and dishes, it was a brilliant blend of entertainment and education, leaving himself and his audience almost breathless by the end.

Next month's talk by Janet Morris should be of particular interest to anyone who is keen on local history.

It is hard to believe that Horseheath Hall, once described as one of the most magnificent country houses in England, has now completely disappeared as family fortunes built on the slave trade were dissipated by gambling and high living – a real riches to raags story!

Visitors are welcome to join the group when it meets in Haverhill's Arts Centre Studio at 7.30pm on Wednesday, March 28.

Admission is free to members and £2 for visitors, and refreshments will be available.

It's no dog's life for Judith

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A WOMAN who has used a wheelchair for the past 40 years says a four-legged friend has given her a new lease of life.

Judith Jesky, 55, broke her neck in a car accident when she was 13, leaving her paralysed from the neck down. She uses a powered wheelchair and has limited use of her arms and hands.

After taking early retirement from work in 2008, while husband Mike was still working, Judith, who lives in Kedington, found she was alone for much of the time.

She had always wanted a dog, but never felt in a position to have one. But after finding out about the Canine Partners scheme, which trains assistance dogs for people with disabilities, she visited their national training centre in Sussex and brought home Henry in 2009.

She said: "All the dogs were so wonderful, so happy, so excited, so willing and just wanting to do things for you. Meeting Henry was very special though. He was just so gentle."

"As I have limited use of my hands and fingers I find it very difficult to reward with treats quickly. This made me rather nervous as excited dogs eagerly awaited their treats of cheese or sausage. But Henry seemed to sense that I was going to be a bit slow and although equally eager, he never made me feel I might lose a finger but gently took the treats, patiently waiting until I was ready."

"He has given me a new purpose in life and overcome all the difficulties I was facing alone in the house. He gets me out and about and I have made lots of new friends where I live. I no longer have to wait for Mike to come home and pick things up, as Henry does it for me.

Woman's best friend: Judith Jesky with Henry, who has given her a new lease of life. CP

"He helps me on and off with clothing, opens and closes doors, fetches the television controls, gets the post, takes washing from the machine and so much more."

"Since having Henry I have participated more in village life, joining the film club, helping at the community cafe and exploring the countryside – all things I wouldn't have done before. Mike can now go to work with the knowledge that I am not alone as Henry is with me, making sure I'm ok and that I do get out and about, even if it is just going to my local park."

"Life is very different now and all for the better, Henry also makes me so joyful as he is totally cute and adorable."

Bake up an Easter treat

HOT cross buns are definitely a traditional bake in our home at Easter.

I prefer to have foods when they are in season and will only have hot cross buns at Easter.

I think then it makes it more special and of course I am not talking about those you buy in the supermarket – I'm talking homemade.

Baking is really something you shouldn't be scared of as everyone can bake.

It's a skill we don't use too much these days with everyone so busy with working and having the shops stocking all sorts of cakes and breads for us.

I think we have forgotten how good food can actually taste. So as we draw closer to Easter I would like to share with you my recipe for hot cross buns. I would also like to let readers know there will be a charity event at Sandcastles in Haverhill on Friday, April 6, where I will be selling my cakes, and many other stalls will be there.

Most importantly there will be an Easter egg hunt for the children and the adults of course who would like to join in. It is for a great cause – the nursery's garden – which badly needs a facelift. There will be lots of games and also a raffle.

The fun will start around 10am and I look forward to seeing you there.

Hannah's hot cross buns

Ingredients

100g caster sugar
225ml warm milk
25g fresh yeast
450g strong flour
75g butter, in cubes
Half tsp cinnamon
Half tsp nutmeg
2 tsp mixed spice
Pinch of salt
2 eggs, beaten
75g currants
50g sultanas
25g chopped peel

Shortcrust pastry

Egg wash
1 beaten egg with a little water

■ In a jug put 60ml of the milk (warm), 1 tbsp of the sugar and the yeast. Leave for 5 minutes until it begins to froth.

■ Sift the flour into a large bowl and rub in the butter (if you have a free-standing mixer you can use the paddle to do this).

■ Add the cinnamon, nutmeg, mixed spice, salt and the rest of the sugar.

■ Put the beaten eggs into the milk and then pour the yeast mixture in there too.

■ Give it a stir then add to the flour – you may not need all of the liquid, just enough until you have a soft dough.

■ Then knead until the dough is soft. Add in your currants, sultanas and chopped peel and knead for a further minute.

■ Cover the bowl with clingfilm and leave in a warm place to double in size – about an hour and a half.

■ Knock back the dough and cover again for 5 minutes.

■ Take pieces of the dough – I weigh them to 40g each so I get a more even size, roll them into a ball and place on a baking tray lined with parchment paper.

■ Use a sharp knife to cut a cross on the buns and brush them with the egg wash.

■ Roll out some shortcrust pastry and cut into strips to place on the crosses of the buns. You can skip this part, but it does look nice with the crosses on top.

■ Brush the pastry with the egg wash then leave them to rise for around 30 minutes.

■ Preheat the oven to 200C and cook them for 15 minutes until golden brown.

■ Leave to cool on a cooling rack if you can lure yourself away!

Happy Easter!

Couple falsely claimed £10k

A COUPLE falsely claimed more than £10,000 in benefits while trying to qualify for larger rented accommodation for themselves and their five children, a court has heard.

Michelle and Simon Murtagh made claims for two separate addresses in Haverhill where they were living with their children from previous relationships.

The couple fell foul of the law by failing to notify the authorities that they were mainly using just one of the houses and that they had married.

Ipswich Crown Court heard that the couple had been advised not to crowd all the family voluntarily into just one of the houses as it could count against them when they applied for a larger property.

Mark Rochouve, prosecuting, said that between July 2009 and December 2009 Michelle Murtagh, 28, had falsely claimed just over £3,000 in housing and council tax benefits and income support. Her husband Simon

BY COURT REPORTER

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Murtagh, 37, claimed £7,700 between May 2010 and February 2011 in income support, housing and council tax benefit.

The property for which Simon Murtagh was claiming benefits was in Gannet Close, Haverhill, while Michelle Murtagh claimed for a house in Cambridge Way, also in Haverhill.

Initially Michelle Murtagh's claims had been genuine as she had not been living with Simon Murtagh. When that changed, both should have notified St Edmundsbury Borough Council and the Department for Work and Pensions, but did not.

Michelle and Simon Murtagh, now living in Meadow Way, Barrow, near Bury St Edmunds, each pleaded guilty to two offences of benefit fraud.

Representing Michelle Murtagh, Carlo Cocco said that although she falsely received £3,000 in benefits, only a third of that amount was paid in cash as income support.

Mr Cocco said: "The motivation was not one of financial gain but one of obtaining a house which was sufficient to house the family together." The couple now have six children between them.

Michael Proctor said Simon Murtagh had received £2,533 in income support, with the rest of his claims being paid directly for rent and council tax.

Mr Proctor said: "There is no suggestion in this case of this being to achieve a higher standard of living at the hands of the state. The background to this is very unusual but it is not justifiable."

The court heard that both Michelle and Simon Murtagh were currently unemployed and living on legally-claimed benefits.

They are repaying the falsely-claimed benefits through deductions from what they receive.

Judge Peter Thompson made the couple subject to a 12-month community order, with requirements for Michelle Murtagh to carry out 40 hours of unpaid community work and Simon Proctor 100 hours.

PUPILS from a primary school went on safari and paid a visit to Linton Zoo.

Children from Belchamp St Paul Primary School near Haverhill were able to see tigers, lions, lemurs, giant tortoises, kangaroos, tapirs and many other creatures from around the world during their visit to the zoo.

To the delight of the children, their visit was enhanced with "Snakes, Bugs and Little Beasties". The interactive session with some of the smaller zoo creatures is designed to bring to life various National Curriculum science lessons.

The boys and girls were thrilled to see and touch some exciting creatures such as Percy the royal python, Boris the bearded dragon, Dot the blue-tongued skink, a Macleay's spectre giant stick insect, red legged millipedes and an African giant land snail.

The children were also able to inspect and examine some endangered animal skins.

Linton Zoo is dedicated to the conservation of endangered species and environmental education and has a programme of animal feeds, keeper talks and activities at the weekends and during the school holidays.

A special programme of talks and activities is designed for schoolchildren of all ages to enhance their visit.

Zoo owner Kim Simmons said: "Children have the opportunity of seeing, smelling, hearing and even touching real live animals.

"This memorable and very special experience cannot be achieved through watching television programmes. The young children of today are going to be our future conservationists and the world is going to depend on how much they care.

"It is hoped that their visit to the zoo will spark off a special interest and that they may be inspired by the team of dedicated keepers and their precious animals."

Twinning stalwarts set off for Europe

MEMBERS of a town twinning group have said goodbye as they set off to travel around Europe.

Members of the Haverhill and District Twin Towns Association held a social evening in the Arts Centre to say a big thank you to PJ (Pat) Sheehy, Ian Chapman and Pat Hills for all their time and hard work as committee members for the Association.

Ian and his wife Sue are packing up and going off to live their dream of touring around Europe.

Ian said: "We first hosted guests from France and Germany in 1996. We have met some lovely people and we leave behind a great organisation but we will meet them again when they come over to Germany this year."

PJ and Pat will step down from the committee but remain as members. PJ said: "I will miss cooking the French dinners and my time on the committee was most enjoyable."

Their wives were presented with bouquets by new chairperson, Elaine McManus and Pat said: "This was totally unexpected, a nice surprise, I will continue to be an active member."

Farewell: the presentation held at the arts centre. CP

Haverhill is twinned with Pont St Esprit in the Rhone Valley of France and Ehringshausen in Hessen, Germany. Activities include exchanges with the twin towns and social functions throughout the year. Anyone interested in joining the group and becoming a member should call Elaine on (01440) 761018 for more details.

Learn how to get most out of Games

PROMOTING tourism and bringing the Olympics to life for customers will be two of the topics at a breakfast meeting jointly organised by business groups from two towns.

The chief executive of the new business-led organisation promoting tourism in Suffolk will be guest speaker at the joint Haverhill and Newmarket Chamber of Commerce event.

Keith Brown, chief executive of Visit East Anglia (VEA), will explain how the organisation works in partnership with local businesses and give tips on maximising the opportunities coming up over the next 12 months, including the 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games and the Queen's Jubilee celebration.

The business breakfast networking event on April 20 will focus on the benefits of tourism and guests will also hear from Lloyd's TSB on how businesses can bring the London 2012 Games to life for staff and customers.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Sarah Howard, Chair of Haverhill Chamber of Commerce, said: "Tourism has never been a more relevant subject for business than this year. With the Queen's Jubilee and London 2012 putting the world's eyes on the UK, local businesses are preparing for both the wonderful opportunities and managing the difficult issues this will present."

As the Olympic and Paralympic Games approaches in July, Lloyd's TSB, official sponsors of London 2012, will be providing some advice on how small businesses can overcome any challenges the Games may bring and what they can do to prepare. Businesses will be facing issues such as managing staffing levels during Olympic events, transport and delivery plans if they do business in the capital.

Graham Abbey, Chair of Newmarket Chamber of Commerce, said: "We are delighted that Keith Brown from Visit East Anglia will be our guest speaker and Lloyd's TSB will be helping us prepare to make the most of 2012."

"We are also very pleased to be working with Haverhill Chamber of Commerce again on a joint breakfast event which will give businesses in both towns the opportunity to ask questions and get advice, as well as network."

The event, sponsored by Lloyd's TSB, takes place at Palace House, The National Horseracing Museum, High Street, Newmarket, on Friday, April 20 from 7.45am to 9.45am. Tickets are £15 for members and £25 for non-members. To book visit www.haverhillchamber.co.uk.

Journey: teacher Jan Bergau with George Fryer and Ellie Rodwell before they headed off to India last week.

Indian mission for teacher and pupils

A TEACHER and two students headed off to India to find out more about life in the country.

Jan Bergau, head of modern foreign languages at Samuel Ward Academy in Haverhill, left with students Ellie Rodwell and George Fryer for their two-week trip to India last Thursday.

They are visiting a school in Jamshedpur to find out how they do things there, tell them how we do things here and to set up cross-curricular projects with them. The purpose of the visit is to explore the diversity between the two cultures and they are sharing literature that typifies their cultures, looking at recipes and how their diet is different, clothing, religion and sharing artwork.

The visit will be used to set up more projects between the two schools and in May the deputy head from the school in India will be visiting Samuel Ward.

MP praises work of prison in Commons

MP Matthew Hancock has praised the work of a prison in his constituency in reducing re-offending by providing inmates with routes into work, training and education.

Mr Hancock asked Secretary of State for Justice, Ken Clarke, about efforts at HMP Highpoint in Stradishall to ensure more prisoners are trained in prison and have jobs to go to when they leave.

HMP Highpoint houses 1,335 Category C prisoners, making it one of the largest such facilities in the country. In the past year, of those discharged from Highpoint, 34.35 per cent have moved into employment, 44.92 per cent have taken up training or education places and 93.15 per cent have found accommodation.

Mr Hancock said: "I visited HMP Highpoint last year and was impressed by both the staff and the facilities."

PETERSFIELD SLLP

I won my life back from the spectre of alcohol

I MADE plenty more mistakes, but that was the first.

I couldn't understand what had happened; I couldn't be an alcoholic. Everything was going wrong, yet my drinking habits and desires had not changed from my earliest drinking days. I didn't realise that was the problem.

The first time my parents actually allowed me to drink was at a family barbecue when I was 14. Though, like any self-respecting adolescent, I had been drunk without their knowledge several times before.

After finishing my allotted can of beer I stole an unattended crate of alcopops, feeling no more compunction about it than if I had taken food from the fridge.

I didn't see anything wrong with drinking the bottles alone in my room

Martin, 27, saw his life ruined by drink. Here, he explains how hitting rock bottom finally made him seek help – and why he's daring to step back into a bar this week. . .

over the next couple of weeks. I didn't want to drink alone: I was forced to out of necessity. I wouldn't have been allowed to if I asked permission. After all, I came from a good home with loving parents who drank very little. The desire to drink was inherent in me from the start. I wanted to be drunk as soon as I knew what drunk was.

By 18 I was drinking to get drunk at every opportunity. That was what we did, and it was fun. Free of all concern.

You don't have to think about consequences at 18, especially not regarding your health. It isn't supposed to be the first year's heavy drinking that causes problems, it's the next 20, and in that limited sense, we were invincible.

But I was wrong. A few years would pass before endless health problems – that even I couldn't turn a blind eye to – began.

Problems with my heart precipitated several emergency trips to hospital. I'd lie in terror, feeling its beats petering out, thinking I was going to die. Often I'd stay at home and keep drinking to ease the symptoms and the fear.

My brain was racked by the daily agony of migraines caused by exhaustion, abuse and a vascular system already so damaged by alcohol I often spontaneously haemorrhaged, blood streaming from my nose without warning.

My body was falling apart. Drink had ruined me. I was 25.

Then there was the depression. Alcohol no longer made me happy yet I continued to drink, thinking it would. I drank until I was beyond drunk every day, almost exclusively alone now.

Half a year before I stopped drinking, I called in on my parents after a day's solitary binge on Parker's Piece. My dad found me in the kitchen, very drunk, about 6pm. Concerned, and ignorant of my usual drinking habits, he told me I shouldn't be drunk so early in the day.

I turned to face him with blank eyes. 'Better than killing myself,' I said, silencing him.

I only called AA once I understood I had no option but to stop drinking or to die. I sat down in my first meeting, hands shaking so badly I spilled tea all down myself. Only one thought passed through my mind: 'If you manage not to drink it proves you are not an alcoholic. If you prove you are not an alcoholic you can keep drinking.'

Such was my double-think logic. Prevarication and denial are an alcoholic's arsenal and my guns were fully loaded.

Somehow I survived that first night without drinking. Waking out of a tremulous half-sleep next morning, I got up and went to my first shift in the pub. Detox sweat soaked my clothes. My long, lank hair stuck to my face until the manager asked me to tie it up.

Pouring the first pint was a torture I'll never forget. I hadn't had a drink for more than 24 hours and there I stood, in a pub, beer in hand, fresh from the barrel, poured for someone else. I nearly cried: I was on the wrong side of the bar.

That night everything changed. I went to my second meeting and received proof I was an alcoholic. The floor was open for anyone to speak and one man felt like sharing.

He said he had been living near a public toilet block and, aside from the same clothes that he had been wearing for six months, he had only had two things left in his possession: a sieve and a plug. He was vomiting so regularly he'd go into the toilets, block a sink, vomit into the sieve, remove any solids and re-drink the stomach juice so as not to waste

Recalled to the bar: Martin as Brendan with Peter Simmons as Jack in a scene from The Weir

● Set in a small bar in an isolated, backwater part of Ireland, The Weir won the Laurence Olivier Award for Best New Play in 1999, and was voted one of the 100 most significant plays of the 20th century in a poll conducted by the Royal National Theatre, London.

The play will be performed by the Combined Actors of Cambridge at the ADC Theatre until Saturday. Tickets cost £10/8/6 from www.adctheatre.com

● Read more on Martin's website www.openalc.com. His book, provisionally titled The Sieve That Strained The Soul, will be available in the coming months.

● Worried about your own drinking? Visit www.drinkaware.com or www.alcoholics-anonymous.org.uk. Alcoholics Anonymous also have a helpline: 0845 769 7555.

the alcohol.

My immediate reaction to that terrible story was shock – shock that I hadn't thought of such a simple, obvious, brilliant idea myself.

Then the full realisation of what I had thought hit me. I knew I was an alcoholic.

It was a major breakthrough. The moment you can say 'I am an alcoholic' is the famous First Step. I saw that I had never been in control and felt a new determination grow within me and, increasingly, a new despair: I could never drink again.

The next two weeks passed in a blur of physical upheaval. I didn't sleep. Sweat gushed out of every pore; a lifetime's alcoholic gunk flooding from me.

I drank five litres of water a day and still felt dehydrated. I was gripped by constipation and ate huge meals and three Yorkie bars a day, just to keep my energy levels up. With the loss of 3,000 calories or more of alcohol every day I still lost 10lbs in my first two weeks without drink.

Then I made my next big mistake.

I stopped attending AA meetings. I'd been to 10 and they felt like they'd done the trick. I wasn't a huge fan of their format and thought I could handle it alone.

Things quickly began to deteriorate. I became the cellar-man in the pub, personally handling the kegs and looking after the real ale. Then I began to encourage the girl I was seeing to drink so I could kiss her and taste the booze.

By February, four months sober, I'd reached my limit. I walked home after a hard shift at the pub and couldn't see how life could ever be good again. Alcohol once made life better. It made being me bearable. Now it was gone forever. It felt like I had lost my soul.

I sat alone at home, saw a knife on the kitchen worktop and made up my mind that I would take my life. I paused at the last second, determined to make the right decision as there would be no going back.

A part of me knew I wouldn't always want to die. So I waited, gripped by uncertainty until it became near unendurable. It wasn't the feeling of wanting to die that hurt, but the pain of forcing myself to live that was hell.

I spent the next three days unable to go into the kitchen and near the knife and, consequently, couldn't even walk through to the bathroom. I didn't wash and had to urinate behind the hedge in front of my house.

Thoughts of my friends and family finally brought me back. I remembered that there was love there and put the knife away, along with all thoughts of suicide.

I realised that you can't just stop drinking and expect to survive. I was living in abstinence – I wasn't recovering from alcoholism.

One of the biggest obstacles to recovery was now my job in the pub. I quit and swore never to serve a drink again.

Now I am going to break my word.

This week I will be pulling pints and pouring whiskey in the ADC Theatre as I play Brendan in The Weir. Set in a rural pub in Ireland, it involves constant drinking throughout.

I wouldn't have been able to play the part a year ago, though I suppose it does help that Conor McPherson's play is as mesmerising and enjoyable as it is. The drinking – even of non-alcoholic stage drinks – would have been too much for me.

Drinking there feels both oblique and entirely personal to me. Rather than burrow into my alcoholic personality as it once would have, it now reinforces what I already know – that I am an alcoholic. I am the same person now that I have always been and always will be. The only difference is I know how to be him now.

After years of deluding myself that I was a normal drinker, I have since learnt that I was right in a respect in that I was the same as other drinkers, for no one drinks to stay the same.

There will always be alcoholics. It can't be helped. All we can do is make it as easy as possible for alcoholics to recognise what they are, and let them know that it is alright not to drink. It is even possible. That is true for everybody.

Even now, despite everything, there are still days I want to drink, but there are no days that pass that I am not glad to be sober.

moon to meet Chewbacca, Darth Vader, R2D2 and Stormtroopers, who will be there all weekend for meet and greets and photo opportunities, all in aid of Braintree Mencap.

In fact, the whole event is in honour of this good cause, as Daniel, the eight-year-old son of Julie from Plants That Grow, will be raising money after the charity helped his older sister Emily who has learning difficulties. The scheme is in financial difficulty, and may even be forced to close, so every penny makes a real difference.

Daniel knows the importance of the scheme as it provides 'fun' time for Emily with children like her, and 'normal' time for him with his mum and dad, so Daniel's parents have donated £100 cash for first prize in the event's raffle, and donations of prizes are rolling in, including a tractor goody pack worth more than £50.

Look out for Daniel on his stall, helped by his cousin and Emily too... all wearing their Mencap t-shirts!

There will in fact be numerous stalls to browse, and you'll find refreshments galore, including paninis, hot turkey or beef carvery baps and freshly ground coffee. Make sure to look out for the ever-popular Easter bunny, who will be handing out sweet.

Rattigan's Brown study

SARA Crowe and James Wilby star in Terence Rattigan's rediscovered gem, Less Than Kind – a play about family relationships which sparkles with classic Rattigan wit and wisdom.

The play was revived last year as part of Rattigan's centenary celebrations, enjoying a successful run at the Jermyn Street Theatre in London.

The original 1944 play was extensively rewritten for Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne with the title Love in Idleness and O Mistress Mine in the US. Since its rediscovery it has been published in a new Rattigan collection by Nick Hem.

The play follows the Brown family, delving into the complex relationships between mothers and sons and the effects of time and change.

Michael Brown has just returned from five years' evacuation in Canada: an idealistic socialist, he is horrified to discover that his widowed mother, Olivia, is now living with Sir John Fletcher, married Tory MP and industrialist. The action centres on Olivia's anguish as she is torn between her love for her son and for her new flame.

Rattigan wrote 25 stage plays, plus numerous one-act plays, radio, television and film scripts which are still performed extensively worldwide. These include The Browning Version, The Winslow Boy (both of which played to great acclaim in Cambridge in 2009) and Separate Tables. His films also included The Prince and the Showgirl, which was the picture Lawrence Olivier attempted to shoot with Marilyn Monroe, as seen in the recent film, My Week with Marilyn.

The cast of Less Than Kind includes

James Wilby (Sir John Fletcher), Sara Crowe (Olivia Brown), Caroline Head (Diana Fletcher), David Osmond (Michael Brown), Katie Evans (Polton) and Michelle Morris (Miss Dell).

James Wilby's most recent credits include Gosford Park and will be seen in the upcoming ITV series Titanic this April.

Award-winning actress Sara Crowe's most recent stage role was Lady Frugal in City Madam at the RSC. West End roles include Calendar Girls and Bedroom Farce. Most noted for her role in the Richard Curtis classic Four Weddings and A Funeral she has also worked extensively in television including shows with Jo Brand, Harry Enfield and Rory Bremner.

David Osmond was in The History Boys at the National Theatre and the tour of Lark Rise To Candleford with Sara Crowe.

■ Less Than Kind, Cambridge Arts Theatre, until Saturday at 7.45pm. Tickets are from £15. Contact (01223) 503333 / www.cambridgeartstheatre.com.

The big film

THE PIRATES! IN AN ADVENTURE WITH SCIENTISTS (3D) certificate U, 1hr 28m

AARDMAN Animations' latest offering showcases the extraordinary craftsmanship of director Peter Lord and his team. Their artistry is astonishing and backgrounds are crammed with detail and sly visual gags. It's the mid 19th Century and Queen Victoria (voiced by Imelda Staunton) has declared war on all pirates who dare to sail around Britain's waters. The Pirate Captain (Hugh Grant) is the leader of a ragtag group of seadogs but his enthusiasm far exceeds his questionable ability to plunder booty. His subordinates include Pirate with Scarf (Martin Freeman), Pirate with Gout (Brendan Gleeson), Albino Pirate (Russell Tovey) and Surprisingly Curvaceous Pirate (Ashley Jensen), whose glaringly obvious gender is concealed behind a false beard. Consequently, The Pirate Captain and his crew are a laughing stock, derided by rivals such as Black Bellamy (Jeremy Piven), Cutlass Liz

(Salma Hayek) and Peg Leg Hastings (Lenny Henry). To prove them, The Pirate Captain sets out to capture a Bank of England treasure ship but inadvertently storms The Beagle and captures a young Charles Darwin (David Tennant) and his primate manservant, Mister Bobo. The scientist leads the pirates on a merry dance that might just end with the beleaguered Captain taking home the coveted Pirate Of The Year prize. But first they must venture to the capital without being spotted by the Queen. The film draws on Aardman's trademark visual style and playful sense of humour, while the script is peppered with some wry one-liners. Grant is a snug fit for the misguided Captain and supporting cast have fun with their slender roles, including Brian Blessed in suitably bombastic form as the Pirate King. The script, adapted by Gideon Defoe from his book, walks the gang plank of belly laughs and gentle emotion although none of the characters threaten to usurp Wallace and his resourceful pooch in our affections because, for all its dazzling qualities, there's no escaping a feeling that this madcap voyage falls short of the brilliance of Aardman's earlier works.

It's a Chelsea first for Swift

FOR a man making his debut at the illustrious Chelsea Flower Show this year, TV gardener Joe Swift seems remarkably relaxed, even though advice is being thrown at him from all directions.

"Titchmarsh has been asking me for years when I was going to do a garden. Andy Sturgeon (a Chelsea gold medal winner and competitor at this year's event), who's a good friend of mine, has given me some good advice about the approach and organising yourself, how to deal with things on site and how to keep focused, because there are a lot of distractions."

He hasn't so far encountered any of the feuding which can come with such a competitive show.

Remember the bitter row a few years ago between Sturgeon and rival Diarmuid Gavin, who accused him of plagiarism? Or the time when Gavin fell out with Gardeners' Question Time panellist Bunny Guinness over the height of a wall?

Swift remains unperturbed, although he is aware of the high level of competition which will ensue as the event draws nearer.

"My landscaper said 'the closer you get to the show, the more competitive others become'. But everyone's been unbelievably

by Hannah Stephenson

supportive."

It has taken a year for his Homebase Teenage Cancer Trust garden to come to fruition. The inspiration for it comes from his vision of combining natural elements with city living.

"Living in a city, you notice beautiful natural materials and are physically drawn to them. I have boulders, a huge wooden frame and running water in the show garden."

"The idea is to connect the city and suburban dweller to those natural materials that might not be so prevalent in the city, where you get a lot of concrete and tarmac and other hard elements."

"It's incredibly relevant. City-cooling in the summer and creating more green space in the city is extremely important."

"In a city space you want to keep the focus within the garden because you don't have the rolling hills beyond to tie in the extended landscape."

"It's all about creating key views within a garden, and you can do that in a small garden by placing key sculpture, plants and water here and there."

"People need to think big in a small space. Don't put loads of little things in a small garden. Put one or two big things in there to make a real impact."

Plants in his show garden will include trees such as stemmed Cornus Mas and Prunus 'Amber Beauty' alongside a London plane tree, all selected for their sculptural forms and the interesting colour and texture of their bark.

He wants the garden to be aspirational, but recognises that visitors may want to take some aspect of the garden home with them.

With this in mind, Homebase has launched The Chelsea Collection, a range of plants inspired by Swift's design.

"It's important to be able to take elements of Chelsea home with you but it is the catwalk of design. Very few people are going to create a garden that's on the level of Chelsea but I think there are loads of ideas for planting areas and ways of using sculpture and furniture that people should be inspired by."

Oranges, acid yellows, burgundies and rust-coloured flowers combine to create a warm colour palette in his garden.

Many are currently under glass and will be in and out of the greenhouse on a daily basis to ensure they are perfect for May.

Iris, geums, potentillas, roses, libertia and grevilleas all feature, some of which can be easily grown in this country.

"There has to be an element of sustainability but some of these plants aren't hardy," he admits.

"But it is a climate change garden to a degree. Four cedarwood frames will be coming from Germany, while the stone, boulders, walling and gravel mulch are from Yorkshire and the perennials are British grown."

The RHS has extremely high criteria of entry, demanding details of design, landscaping, material sourcing and budget.

"It's interesting being on the other side of the ropes," he says.

"The scariest thing for me is getting my planting right. I feel quite confident about the garden design. There's a lot of hard structure and it's trying to counterbalance that with some really lovely, original planting."

He says he's not too worried about being awarded any medals.

"It's not like I've got two or three Chelsea golds in the past so there's not something to live up to. I just want to build a garden I'm happy with. A medal isn't the most important thing to me."

The RHS Chelsea Flower Show runs from May 22 to 26. For details, phone 0844 338 0338 or visit www.rhs.org.uk/chelsea

Mondeo is UK's most used car

Ford stalwart covers more miles on UK roads than any other car

Top 10 Most-Used Cars in the UK over 3 years old

Make/Model	Av. mileage PA	Incident/ Claim rate	Largest claim	Sector
1 Ford Mondeo	15,101	15%	£879.28	Family
2 Volvo S80	14,570	19%	£731.90	Executive
3 VW Passat	14,440	44%	£2,224.09	Family
4 Audi A6	14,336	36%	£5,375.63	Executive
5 BMW 5 Series	13,242	32%	£3,002.94	Executive
6 Ford S-Max	12,880	20%	£3,064.72	MPV
7 Chrysler 300C	12,853	44%	£810.00	Executive
8 Volvo XC70	12,848	41%	£1,488.40	SUV
9 Audi A6 Allroad	12,548	41%	£3,406.21	SUV
10 Nsn Pathfinder	12,546	41%	£3,277.50	SUV

THE average Ford Mondeo covers more distance on UK roads than any other vehicle, racking up over 15,000 miles annually, nearly 600 more than the next most-used car, the Volvo S80.

Larger, more refined vehicles dominate Warranty Direct's rundown of the nation's top 10 mile-munchers according to analysis of its 50,000 live policies on three-10 year old cars. The report reveals the nation's lust for luxury during long journeys and provides a unique insight into vehicle usage.

Volkswagen's Passat and the Audi A6 – two more large vehicles – both also cover in excess of 14,000 miles on average, still well above the rule-of-thumb average of 12,000 miles.

The statistics show that even covering over 15,000 miles annually, the Mondeo's reliability isn't diminished, only 15 per cent require a warranty claim each year as opposed to the Passat which has a 44 per cent chance of acquiring a fault.

Conversely, small cars cover significantly less miles, with the Nissan Micra taking the title of Britain's least-used car. Micra owners rack up just 5,580 miles per year on average. In fact, superminis constitute nine of the 10 least-used cars in Britain.

Unsurprisingly, the least-used cars require less maintenance, with a collective average breakdown rate of 21 per cent in contrast to the most-used cars, 34 per cent of which need fixing by Warranty Direct each year – the overall average including all cars is 39 per cent.

Warranty Direct managing director, Duncan McClure Fisher, said: "The Mondeo has always been a favourite with company car drivers, and it appears they rarely stay idle for long. Despite this, they are reliable too."

"It goes to show that when buying used, the rule-of-thumb average mileage of 12,000 isn't really applicable, for example a four-year old Micra's average mileage will be little over 20k miles whereas a Mondeo's will be more like 60k miles.

"The average 10-year-old Mondeo will have travelled equivalent to nearly six times around the globe."

Warranty Direct cover starts from as little as £15 a month. For additional information or to source a quote, go to www.warrantydirect.co.uk.

King: 'A summer of fuel discontent' due

IT seems like a very long time since the Budget speech had any good news in it, regardless of which side of the House was doing the talking, writes Matt Joy of PA News.

Regardless of the intention, the average motorist feels put-upon and that the car is the one element of our daily lives that never benefits from a tax cut.

Any hopes of the motorist getting a break in the 2012 Budget were dashed as Chancellor George Osborne announced that the planned fuel duty rise in August this year would go ahead.

On August 1, a fuel duty increase of 3.02p will take effect, which could see diesel prices reach 150p per litre if the price of crude continues its current trend.

Edmund King, AA president, says: "At a time of record prices at the pumps, the August increase in duty is a budget blow-out which will force drivers off the road and could bring a summer of discontent for many."

"We have heard much about tax allowances but the increase in fuel duty makes no allowance for car-dependent, rural and disabled drivers.

"Only last week the Prime Minister told American students that UK fuel prices would make them 'faint', yet the Government seems intent on inflicting more pain for no gain on drivers."

Dearman stars, but Haverhill's home run ends

HAVERHILL under-nines suffered their first home defeats of the season at the hands of Ely Tigers.

The visitors won the first match 20-0, despite hard work from Luke Wheeler and Oscar Howard, who stood up to the challenge of the big Ely ball-carriers.

Haverhill stepped up their efforts in the second match and, after falling behind, two superb tries from the impressive Max Dearman put them ahead. Harwood and Rohan Varia were forced off with knocks, while Theo Darvill and Oliver Loveridge battled on as the tackle count mounted. John Adams set up Charlie Harvey to score another for the hosts, but they ultimately lost 25-15.

However, Haverhill built on their last performance in the final match, which finished 15-15. They raced to a two-try lead with scores from Harvey and Craig Martin-Gowing, while Hayden Lawrence made countless tackles to frustrate Ely. Dearman crossed for the side's third try, but Ely drove over on the last play of the game to secure the draw.

■ A great fightback was in vain for Haverhill under-eights as they lost 40-35 to Ely.

The visitors scored two early tries, but Sam Davies went over the line to open Haverhill's scoring. The two teams then traded tries, with Riley Brown, Josh Branley and Davies again crossing the line, before Ely ran in three tries in succession.

Haverhill did not let their heads drop and Ben Warren pulled one back. Luke Godfrey then added his name to the scoresheet after a good exchange of passes from Alex Baker and Brown, and Warren crossed for the last try of the match as Haverhill fell just short.

Match two saw Ely win 50-20. The visitors notched three tries before Aidan Denty barged his way through to score. Neve Quinn was holding the Ely attack up with some good tagging, and Branley crossed for Haverhill after running on to a pass from Ben McKay. Debutant Connor Gillingham marked his first start for the club with two tries, one after receiving a good pass from Kai Rintoul and skipping three challenges.

The final match saw Haverhill run in six tries, through Warren, Gillingham, McKay, Brown (2) and Godfrey, but they finished on the wrong end of a 45-30 scoreline.

■ Oliver Garner ran in six tries to inspire Haverhill under-sevens to a 35-30 win over Ely.

Garner opened the scoring, and then got his second after good work by Ewan Grey. Joe Starr set up Garner's third, while it was Bradley Peachey and Andre Lombaard who combined to set up the fourth.

In the second half Mason Gillingham opened up the Ely defence, feeding Kofi Brandt to touch down, before Jack Davis played in Garner for his fifth and Maddox Claydon set up Garner's sixth and winning try.

The second match finished 30-15 to Ely as Angus Duckworth scored his first try. Oliver Brown popped the ball up to Arun Varia, who ran the length of the pitch to score, and Haverhill's third arrived when Elijah Brandt made a line break and set up Harry Lawrance.

Lawrance was also on the scoresheet in the final 20-20 draw, running in two of the tries. Garner also touched down, as did Kofi Brandt.

Bowes rises to the top of Challenge field

■ Carl Heath had the edge in the Men's Rosebowl Final, contested by all the medal winners across the divisions throughout the 2011/12 season.

His score of 89-21-68 put him ahead of Jack Bligh (75-7-68) on countback and saw his handicap reduced by a shot to 20. Dave Whiting was third with 75-6-69.

■ The club's past captains were invited to contest the Past Captains' Trophy, bringing three guests to make up teams of four for the stableford contest, played off seven-eighths handicap, with three from four scores to count.

The runaway winners with a fantastic total of 125pts were 2009 captain Dennis Harkness, Steve Martin, Kim Ward and Geoff Dorkins.

The Haverhill Team was Sue Carr, Mary Sail, Jackie Condon, Kathy Bowman and Doreen Crosbee. The return match is on April 26.

■ Seniors Presentation Day saw seniors captain Pat

Mansfield give the prize presentation following the morning's Bleasdale Cup Competition.

Betts' anger over defeat

Haverhill Rov 1 Woodbridge Tn 4

Ridgions League, Premier Division
PETER Betts did not mince his words, expressing his disgust at his players' performance in Saturday's home defeat.

"That was possibly the worst performance I've seen from Haverhill in five years," he said.

"We gifted them four goals, all from bad individual errors. We were a bit better in the second half but overall it was terrible.

"It's a shame, because we had a good crowd. Not only did the players let themselves down, they let the supporters down as well. I'm furious."

With Dan Cornwell unavailable and both Stuart Wardley and Craig Calver suspended, Rovers started the game with Louis Harper leading the line, and rarely looked threatening.

Allician Blake, the Woodbridge strike, always looked dangerous and he gave his side the lead on 21 minutes when he latched on to a long clearance and lashed a half-volley past Aaron Benstead.

The visitors doubled their advantage five minutes later, when Blake combined well with Paul Berry, who shot past Benstead to make it 2-0.

Things went from bad to worse on the half hour, when Rovers centre-half Sam Holmes mis-controlled a pass in his own half and Aaron Churchyard nipped in to steal the ball and then shoot under Benstead to make it three.

After three early substitutions Rovers looked to get a foothold in the game early in the second half, and they were awarded a penalty in the 52nd minute when Paul Abbot was felled by Liam Scopes as he burst into the box. Marcus Hunt duly converted the spot kick to reduce the arrears, and hopes were high of a comeback.

Although Haverhill dominated much of the second half they created very few clear-cut chances, and Blake completed the visitors' scoring in injury time.

Haverhill Rov 0 Wivenhoe Tn 2

Ridgions League Premier Division
A GOAL at the start of proceedings and one near the end condemned Haverhill to a 2-0 defeat at the hands of Wivenhoe at the New Croft on Tuesday night.

Teenage goalkeeper Joe Harrington was beaten inside three minutes, before Joe Boreham fired just wide from the edge of the area.

Hunt had an effort cleared off the line and Cornwell was denied, but an equaliser eluded them and the visitors struck again.

Haverhill travel to Brantham in the Premier Division on Saturday.
